

SAVING WESTERN AUSTRALIA'S RAREST BIRD

The Western Ground Parrot is unique to Western Australia. Less than 150 birds are estimated to be left in the whole world. If we don't act now they will disappear forever and become another entry on the extinct species list.

The Friends of the Western Ground Parrot are determined to save this species from extinction, but we cannot do it on our own. We need your help!

Our Goals

- To raise awareness about the Western Ground Parrot
- To assist with the recovery of the species to a sustainable population level in collaboration with the South Coast Threatened Birds Recovery Team

As a Friend you will

- Receive regular updates through our newsletter
- Be able to take part in volunteer activities to help the Western Ground Parrot
